

My name is Henriette Egeberg Kristensen, and I am currently studying Front-End Development at Noroff.

Through my studies and portfolio projects, I have built a solid foundation in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, responsive design, accessibility, and user-focused development. Projects such as GameHub, my semester community museum site, and the FED-PE1 e-commerce assignment have helped me understand how to structure clean code, create intuitive user flows, and build functional and visually consistent interfaces.

Although I am transitioning from another profession, my previous work experience has given me strong soft skills: reliability, problem-solving, adaptability, and a positive attitude in fast-paced environments. These qualities have supported my development journey and allow me to contribute well in collaborative teams.

I am motivated to continue learning, improving, and taking on new challenges in a professional development environment. I would welcome the opportunity to grow within a team while contributing to meaningful and user-friendly digital solutions.
